Horrible Accident at Torchlight Mines.

William Charles is the Victim of Misfortune of an unusual Nature.

A shocking accident whereby a big, able-bodied, industrious man was made a cripple for life, occurred in the mines at Torchlight last Monday morning. The mining at those mines is done by a machine, the motive power of which is electricity. It is a difficult matter for one who never saw such a machine to describe it to those who also never saw one. The best that can be done is to say that in some sort of iron frame a lot of iron or steel teeth, long and pick-like, are set. This is held against the coal and it eats it away into the mass with great force.

William Charles, sometimes called Charley Scarberry, operated one of these electrical diggers. He was at work Monday with one of them. All went along as usual until about 11 a. m., when in some strange way, he can not tell how, Charles' right foot was caught in the frame, the cruel teeth seized it, and in a twinkling it was literally chewed from the ankle.

The poor fellow's shrieks of pain and calls for help speedily brought assistance and he was given all possible aid and relief. Dr. Fred Marcum, the company's physician, was on the opposite side of the river, but in less than half an hour he had his patient on the railroad side of Torchlight, and had the west bound local freight signaled for and the Louisa hospital notified to be in readiness to receive the injured man. He also made his condition as comfortable as possible under such distressing circumstances.

Upon the arrival of the train the man was taken to Riverview where Dr. L. H. York, assisted by Drs. Marcum, Bromley and Wellman, amputated the leg about three inches below the knee. The left foot had also been caught in the machine, but fortunately it was not seriously injured. A semilunar cut had been made entirely across the top of the foot, exposing all the tendons, but fortunately not severing any of them.

Charles is a muscular man, 55 years of age, married, and has three or four children. His home is on Georgea Creek.

Telephone to Torchlight.

The Louisa Coal Company, operating at Torchlight, has just completed the construction of a telephone line into Louisa, connecting with the Southern Bell exchange in this city.

The Louisa Coal Company has needed this service for sometime, as its business is increasing to such an extent that it is imperative that telephone connections be had with the long distance lines of the Bell company.

The connection above referred to will not only benefit the coal company but will mean much to the subscribers of this city.

The Three Mile Oil Field.

Oil well No. 3, on the O'Brien farm, five miles south of Louisa, will be drilled in next week unless some unexpected delay should occur. The "Big Lime" formation was reached at a depth of 985 feet and the well has been cased to that point.

Work on well No. 4, in the same vicinity will be started within the next two or three weeks.

Intense Cold.

Our citizens awoke Thursday morning to a keen realization of the fact that winter is here in earnest. Various thermometers showed various records, the cheaper the instrument the lower the degree. It is safe to say that it "was cold enough for you" this time—zero.

Another Pike County Killing.

Another sad story of a killing at Heller, Pike county, Christmas eve, was flashed over the wires. Bad whiskey and a devilish gun was the cause of it all.

Red Harris and Roy Powell both young men, and employees at the Greenough Coal & Coke Company's mines, became engaged in a drunken quarrel over a trivial matter at a Sunday School Christmas function at Heller, Friday evening, when suddenly, and without warning, Harris whipped out a 44-calibre Colts pistol and fired four successive shots into Powell's abdomen. Powell was shot on their way back to Greenough about a mile distant from the original scene of the first trouble.

The wounded man lived seven hours, giving up the ghost at three o'clock Christmas morning. Both men had been celebrating the holiday season in the old-fashioned mountain way, and bad whiskey scored another victim on the list of Christmas fatalities in that region—Independent.

New City Fathers.

On Tuesday night next the Board of City Council chosen at the November election will be sworn in and assume the direction of the municipal affairs of Louisa. The new board is composed of R. L. Vinson, G. S. Wilson, W. H. Adams, M. G. Berry, H. G. Wellman and J. H. Peters. Of these Vinson and Wilson are hold overs. The board will be presided over by John G. Burns, Mayor and ex-officio chairman of the council.

An interesting feature of the coming meeting will be the election by the board of city treasurer, attorney, marshal and clerk. There is no lack of aspirants for these various positions, and the initial gathering of the city fathers will attract a large crowd.

AGED WOMAN BREAKS HIP.

Mrs. Isabelle Childers Falls on icy Sidewalk.

On Sunday night last, a few minutes after the conclusion of the services at the Southern Methodist Church, those who were sitting in the office of the hotel Brunswick directly opposite, heard cries for help. Going to the front door they saw a prostrate figure on the pavement in front of the church. Hurrying to the spot they saw that Mrs. Childers, an aged woman who has for a long time been sexton of the building, had fallen and was unable to rise. She had extinguished the fire and lights in the church and had started home and had slipped on the icy pavement.

She was placed in a chair and carried to the hotel. As soon as a cot could be procured she was carried to her home and a physician was summoned. Examination showed that one thigh was broken close to the hip, making a very bad fracture. Drs. York and Bromley rendered the necessary aid.

Mrs. Childers is quite old and feeble, and on this account her entire recovery from so serious an injury is almost impossible. Mrs. Childers fell in March last while running to the aid of a little child whose clothes were on fire, and broke both bones of one arm.

Apperson Lodge Elected Officers.

Apperson Lodge, No. 195, F. & A. M., held its annual election of officers on last Monday night, with the following result:

Robert Dixon, Master; A. M. Hughes, S. W.; H. E. Evans, J. W.; S. J. Justice, Sec.; Augustus Snyder, Treas.; N. D. Waldeck, Tyler; Rev. W. L. Reid, Chaplain; C. C. Hill, Sr. D.; Wm. Marra, Jr. D.; J. L. Carey and B. J. Chaffin, Stewards; Augustus Snyder, N. D. Waldeck and W. J. Vaughan, Trustees of grounds and buildings.

Moved to Torchlight.

William Burton, blacksmith, has moved his family to Torchlight, where he has employment. He lived nearly opposite Compton's shop, on lower Main Cross street.

Coal Operation at Auxier.

One of the largest and most modern coal plants in the Big Sandy Valley is soon to be installed just above the mouth of Johns Creek, on the east side of the river, in Floyd county.

Mr. A. D. Smith, a coal operator of experience and ample financial ability, is back of the movement. Associated with him is Mr. Morris Williams, a multi-millionaire Pennsylvania operator.

A bridge is to be erected over the Big Sandy at a point a short distance above the mouth of Johns Creek and a switch will be run from the main line of the C. & O. to the mines. Mr. Smith and his associates have acquired several hundred acres of land and the intention is to make this one of the largest coal operations in East Kentucky. The coal is of a very fine grade and will be in great demand when put on the market. As at least 1000 miners will be employed, the erection of hundreds of houses will be necessary. These in addition to the offices, commissary, etc., will make Auxier quite a bustling little town.—Paintsville Herald.

Elders' and Deacons' Institute.

Will be held at East Point, Johnson county, beginning Friday, Jan. 21st, and continuing over the following Lord's day.

While intended especially for the Elders and Deacons of the churches of Christ in Johnson county, it is by no means the desire that it be limited to them. Members as well as officers from any county or church will be made welcome. The folks at East Point are good entertainers, and extend a warm invitation to all who desire to attend.

R. B. Neal, of Pikeville, will conduct the institute. He will be assisted by others competent for their work.

Let those who come bring a Bible, a pencil and a notebook. Mr. Neal asks it as a favor if any one has a special problem needing solving, pertaining to church work or official duties, that it be sent to him at Pikeville as soon as possible, that he may give it careful consideration.

A Happy New Year.

With this issue of the Big Sandy News the year 1909, with its pleasures and its griefs, its joys and its sorrows, passes like a dream that is told. The best we can do, and the wisest, is to note and heed its lessons. Then we will be wiser and better. What 1910 has in store for us we do not know, and for this ignorance we should be thankful. Let us so order our lives during the year, and through all time, that, come what may, we will be ready for the year and for the year.

That the readers of the NEWS may be blest with health, happiness and prosperity during 1910 and all other years, is the heartfelt wish of its editor.

Christmas 1909.

The day was observed in Louisa in about the accustomed way. All the Sunday Schools had trees, loaded with presents for the children. This feature was greatly enjoyed. There were also many Christmas tables spread, but not all of them were loaded with turkeys at 20 cents a pound gross. They didn't lack for good things to eat, however.

Meteorologically the day was a composite—rain, snow, sunshine, cloud, but in order to please the lovers (?) of such a thing we will call it a white Christmas.

The day passed without accident or special incident.

Accident at East Point.

A young man named Bayes, of near East Point, got his foot tangled up in a coal cutting machine at the North-East mines. His limb was amputated below the knee and he is doing as nicely as could be expected.

Removals.

Jonce Thompson has moved into the property recently purchased by him, adjoining Dan Blankenship. The property vacated by Thompson will be occupied as a residence by its owner, Lon Burton.

BLOODY TIME

In Pike County During the Holidays.

Fatalities of the Yuletide are the Result of Too Much Booze, as Usual.

The Pikeville correspondent of the Ashland Independent tells in the following lines the way Christmas was "celebrated" in that section.

"It falls to our lot to chronicle some more bloodthirsty happenings in connection with Christmas in our section, and of which friends have just now apprised us by telephone. On Island creek, near here, Dick Compton, a wild young scion of one of the families of the neighborhood, and who had been tried for the murder of his uncle, as well as for many other misdeeds, and who doubtless should have long ago been in the penitentiary, shot the leg of a young man named Hicks full of holes and fled to the hills; while on Greasy creek a similar crime was committed about the same time, when one Adkins fearfully wounded a neighbor named Hopkins by shooting him in the leg and then making his escape. None of the culprits have been apprehended. At the mouth of Pawpaw, in Buchanan County, Va., barely beyond the Pike county line, some time during the day Saturday, Henry Pennington, who was drunk, invaded the home of Samuel Baker and started a row. He killed Baker at once and opened fire on the dead man's wife, who retaliated in kind with a Winchester. She landed three bullets in him, and herself received so many that it is thought she cannot survive. A mob was promptly formed by the neighbors of the Bakers, who just after dark Saturday night took Pennington and suspended him between the heavens and the earth, to the branch of a tree, and ere he had time to strangle, riddled his body with bullets, thereby making short work of him. So much for Christmas, booze. This sounds like the escapades of characters in yellow backed novels; with scenes depicted in the wild and woolly West and its blood curdling in the extreme, but 'tis a fact nevertheless, and the real scene is located not so very far from Pikeville, say thirty miles."

Information for Enumerators.

The Director of the Census at Washington has fixed Saturday, February 5, as the date all over the country for the examination of persons who desire to become census enumerators. An examination will be conducted on that date in Louisville.

An official communication received by J. D. Reed, Supervisor of the Census for the Louisville district, says:

"Any person of good judgment who has received a common school education can readily and easily pass the test to be given applicants for census enumerators."

This should be comforting assurance to the thousands who contemplate asking for these places.

No application will be received after January 25.

Warning to Hunters.

While hunting Emmitt Craycraft, of Maysville, aged 20, accidentally shot and killed himself. He had climbed over a fence and was lifting his gun through an opening when the hammer struck the barbed wire was discharged, the contents striking him in the face, blowing off one-half of his head. Death was almost instantaneous. He was with three companions who witnessed the accident.

County Weddings.

Four well known young people of this section were married last week. They are Bristow Roberts, of Deephole, and Miss Susan Crank, of Fallsburg, and Harvey Preece, of Deephole, and Miss Jennie Salter, of Yatesville.

Boy Sustains Broken Leg.

An accident which is involved in some degree of mystery occurred at Torchlight, six miles south of Louisa, on last Tuesday morning. Shortly after No. 37, west bound for Ashland, had left a man with a broken leg was found near the coal tipples. He was carried to the store of the Louisa Coal Co., where his injuries were attended to by Dr. Fred Marcum, the company's physician.

When the news of the accident reached Louisa it was coupled with several statements of the cause. All were exceedingly improbable, and, so far as the NEWS has been able to learn after repeated inquiries at every possible source of information, no one save the man himself knows exactly how it happened. The most reasonable theory is that he intended to leave the train at Torchlight; that he heard the name of the station called, and being afraid it would not stop he jumped and the fall broke his leg.

The unfortunate man's name is Blair, and he gives his residence as Johnson county. He is about 20 years of age. He was taken care of at the house of James Hughes, in Torchlight, and, so the NEWS is informed, was taken home on Thursday.

First aid to Blair was ordered by the railroad company.

Frank Welch Out on Bond.

Frank Welch, who in a pistol duel on the streets of larger killed Henry Mosby, a hotel proprietor of that town, on December 8, and who was immediately arrested by officers and brought to the jail at Welch, was released on bond Monday and returned to his home Monday night. His bondsmen are D. C. Payne, Louis Collins, James Day and Andrew Kennedy.—Williamson Enterprise.

TROUBLE AT TORCHLIGHT.

Whiskey Gets in Its Work at a Christmas Tree Gathering.

A very serious affray occurred at Torchlight on Friday night last, beginning in whiskey and ending in wounds. Christmas tree festivities were in progress in the little village and all was going along pleasantly when booze and bullets turned the festival into almost a funeral. The Torchlight correspondent of the NEWS has this to say of the fracas:

No doubt much has been said of the trouble we had here on Christmas eve, but like many other reports it gets larger from its start. The following are facts, as near as we can gather: Whiskey being much in evidence is the bottom sill. A dispute arose at the Christmas tree, which the officers soon quieted, one of the parties being taken home by an officer. C. P. Lakin became ugly with a knife and was hit in the face. Soon after this others took part, and near the tipple shots were fired into the officers, who returned the fire. After everything quieted down it was found that Lakin had a broken toe and S. W. Phipps a broken arm. Dr. Marcum was called and the breaks were dressed. The parties are doing very well and nothing further is expected.

Will Reopen Next Monday.

The college and the city school will resume work next Monday, after a recess of two weeks. The prospects for the coming sessions of the college are very bright. Prof. Byington has been very active during the recess, having spent nearly the entire vacation traveling in the interest of the school. He has been very successful, and our people will gladly welcome the new pupils. They used all possible effort last year to make the students comfortable, and no pains will be spared to make the newcomers contented and happy.

Has Typhoid.

Thomas York, of Catlettsburg, is quite sick with typhoid fever. He had been ill several days at his home, and when the nature of his malady was known he came to Louisa and entered his brother's hospital.

In a Critical Condition.

Rufus Putnam Drown, one of the oldest men in this section of the country, is said to be lying at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lindsey Smith, near Priebrnd, in a very critical condition, as the result of heart trouble from which he has been suffering for some time.

Mr. Drown has resided in Cabell county, W. Va., a few miles south of Huntington, for probably more than fifty years, until a few years ago when his wife died and he then made his home with some of his children. Some time ago he went to visit Mrs. Smith and became violently ill, and has remained there since. His recovery is thought to be a matter of very grave doubt, as his advanced age is greatly against him.

He had several brothers who were well known along the Ohio river, being engaged in the steamboat business. One of his brothers is now president of the Mississippi River Pilots' Association, with his headquarters at St. Louis.—Catlettsburg Tribune.

Several Alarms.

Yesterday morning after The Commercial had gone to press the unexpected happened and the fire alarm was sounded about 4 o'clock. The fire company was called to the home of Andrew Fortune on 29th and Greenup, which was a mass of flames upon their arrival at the scene. Owing to the low water pressure they were powerless to do anything and the house and its contents was consumed in a short time. The house was a three-room cottage, and because of the early hour the family did not have time to save any of the household effects after discovering that the building was burning. Fortunately the fire did not spread to any other building or the loss might have been much greater.

Three other alarms were turned in during the day, and for a while it seemed that Ashland was destined to have a costly conflagration just at a time when it was most feared and liable to prove most destructive. The fire company did some effective service, however, and a catastrophe was fortunately averted.—Ashland Commercial.

Warm Time Expected.

When Judge John B. Wilkinson of the Circuit Court granted the charter for the town of Kermit he named the first Thursday in February as the day on which to select municipal officers. The two opposing elements in the village are preparing for another hot fight and both are confident of victory.

That there will be two tickets in the field was forecasted by the fight for and against the charter, and nominations will be made in the near future. Judge Wilkinson's order names Messrs. Harrison Chaffin, William Workman and W. T. Meade as the commissioners to conduct the election.

Fell Into Cellar.

J. A. Castle, of Castle & Helner, electricians, was injured slightly at the site of the Ritter building on Fourth avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets. He was working on the wires which supply the Garland-Biggs-Wilson store with current and while thus engaged slipped and fell into the cellar. He went down about ten feet, striking on his head. He received a severe cut on his forehead and a number of bruises, but fortunately escaped serious injury.—Huntington paper.

J. A. Castle is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Castle, of Lick Creek. His friends are sorry to hear of his accident, but are glad it is no more.

Have Gone to Ashland.

A. N. Edgell and family have gone to Ashland for residence. Mr. Edgell will represent the wholesale grocery house of Crump & Field, Ashland, as its traveling salesman. Our people are sorry to have them leave Louisa.

Models in Their Way.

Speaking of public improvements the crossings from Mrs. Martha McClure's to the Nash corner and to the Kennedy corner are models of the kind.

ENUMERATORS' TEST EASY.

Census Director Durand Sets February 5th as the Date.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 27, 1909.—Any person of good judgment, who has received an ordinary common school education, can readily and easily pass the test to be given applicants for Census enumerators' places on Saturday, February 5, the date finally set by U. S. Census Director Durand, according to an announcement from the Census Bureau today. This will be a comforting assurance to the several hundred thousand who are believed to be contemplating application for the places.

It was emphatically stated at the bureau that the test will be an eminently reasonable and practical one, similar to that applied to applicants at the Twelfth Census. It will consist of filling out a sample schedule of population from a description, in narrative form, of typical families; and, in the case of enumerators whose work will be in the rural districts, they will be called upon to fill out an additional sample schedule of agriculture, from information furnished by the Census Bureau.

All persons, whether women or men, who may desire to become Census enumerators must be citizens of the United States; residents of the supervisor's district for which they wish to be appointed; must be not less than 18 nor more than 70 years of age; must be physically able to do the work; must be trustworthy, honest and of good habits; must have at least an ordinary education and must be able to write plainly and with reasonable rapidity. Those who can comply with these requirements are invited to put in their applications, as there will be at least 68,000 enumerators' places to be filled by the middle of March in preparation for the enumeration beginning April 15.

Application forms, with full instructions for filling in, and complete information concerning the test and the method of appointment, can be secured by writing to the supervisor of census for the supervisor's district in which the applicant lives. All applications, properly filled in must be filed with the supervisors not later than January 25 as any received after that date cannot be considered.

"What God hath joined together let no man put asunder."

Only a few of the many friends of Miss Florida May Ison, of Lower Keaton, and Mr. Thomas Dorton, of Red Bush, Ky., had the honor of being present at their marriage, which occurred at the home of the bride, December 24, at ten a. m.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. James H. Holbrook, Misses Minnie Fannin, Elva Rose; Messrs. Harry and Thurman Dorton and Benule Hamilton.

The ceremony having been duly performed by Rev. Haden Hamilton, all retired to the dining room to partake of all the delicacies due the occasion. After which adieus were taken and amid hearty wishes for a happy future the couple started on their homeward journey and arrived at the groom's father's, William Dorton, at 3:30 p. m., where a sumptuous supper was awaiting them.

Mrs. Dorton is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Abby Ison Gillum, and a graduate of the Sandy Valley Seminary, a favorite of this vicinity and beloved by all who know her. Mrs. Dorton never looked more beautiful than on her wedding day, arrayed in a white silk gown made in a simple but picturesque style.

The groom was faultlessly dressed and is quite a worthy and industrious young man, and has just returned from Ohio, where he has been for the last year. Mr. Dorton has purchased a home out there and he and his bride will return to Ohio in the near future where they will make their future home.

Our school is progressing nicely under the care of Charley Hamilton. Jesse Rose spent Christmas with his sister, Elva Rose.

Carrie Holbrook went to Flat Gap Friday.

Women Who Are Envied.

Those attractive women who are lovely in face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might like them. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation or kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion. Many charming women owe their health and beauty to them. 50c at A. M. HUGHES.

Several mornings ago while the family of Phil D. Roache was waiting for breakfast, Mrs. Roache's attention was called to the fact by a neighbor woman that the baby was dead. A Thrilling Rescue.

How Bert R. Leaa, of Cheny, W. Va., was saved from a frightful death is a story to thrill the world. "Hard cold," he writes, "brought on a desperate lung trouble that baffled an expert doctor here. At last I used Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me and now I am as well as ever." The importance of the industry which turns out the little splinters of wood tipped with sulphur or some other material ignited by friction is only recognized when the average smoker tries to contemplate his predicament if he had to go back to the time when he had to coax a spark from a tinder box. Of course, the answer is, he would smoke a great deal less because of the difficulty in getting a light, or else, on the other hand, smoke continuously in order to keep alive the fire at the end of his stogie or Hinvaas, pipe or cigarette, as the case might be.

Small and insignificant as it is, the match demands perhaps as much attention in the choice of the wood going into its manufacture as any other forest product. Only the choicest cross-grained timber will not do. Instead of being a by-product of other articles of manufacture the little match is turned out at hundreds of mills over the country where the by-products are bulky objects like doors, sash, shingles, siding, posts, and cord-wood. The pines, linden, aspen, white cedar, poplar, birch, and willow are the most suitable match timbers.

The appearance of a strange animal is reported at Pappaw, Pike county. Wire Col. Roosevelt.

The "Old Red Fox," as Gus Richardson has been known in Meade and other counties of his district for many years, has announced his candidacy for Doorkeeper of the Senate. Richardson served in the House at the last session, and before that was in the Senate.

Prize fighting has at last reached its proper level. Jim Jeffries, recognized as a white man, has consented to fight Jack Johnson, the champion black animal. When Johnson knocks out Jeffries, as he probably will do, this brutal form of entertainment will have placed its laurels where they belong.

Gov. Noel has announced the appointment of Col. James Gordon, of Okolona, as United States Senator from Mississippi to succeed the late Senator A. J. McLaurin. The appointment is temporary, until the Legislature can elect a Senator for the unexpired term of three years and three months, and is made with the understanding that Senator Gordon will not be a candidate for the unexpired term.

Jesse M. Alverson, of Lincoln county, assistant clerk of the last session of the State Senate, who will now have the duty of calling that body to order since the death of William Cromwell, chief clerk, was in Frankfort last week to get his roll calls and books in order for the opening of that body next Tuesday. The chief clerkship continues to attract much attention. Green R. Keller, editor of the Carlisle Mercury, a candidate, has arranged to give a place to young Cromwell, son of the deceased Clerk.

The counties of Johnson, Floyd, Pike and Martin in Kentucky and Mingo, W. Va., as well as our own county of Lawrence, should not neglect to make the most of the opportunity that will be open to the Big Sandy Valley on Jan. 10th, in Washington City. The future of Big Sandy river improvement will be very materially influenced by the manner in which we go after an appropriation this year. With Hughes and Langley in Congress, and Bennett in full accord with them, we have a favorable situation. But these men want the backing of their constituents. They can work more effectively if delegations of strong men go to Washington at the proper time and help to impress upon the committee the importance of this improvement.

Public meetings should be called at once and delegates appointed who will go to Washington. The improvement of the river is of the greatest importance to the development of the upper valley. Nothing will do more to hold down railroad rates on the heavy tonnage than will slackwater.

The Kentucky Press Association held its regular mid-winter meeting at Lexington on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The attendance was large and all the proceedings were very interesting to the members. The entertainment furnished by the State University, the Commercial Club and the three newspapers of Lexington was the best they know how to give in the Bluegrass country, and this is equivalent to saying that it was the best in the world. The occasion may best be described as a feast from beginning to end; a feast in which the intellectual, professional and physical features were correctly apportioned.

A resolution was adopted pledging the members to refuse to do advertising free. The rule by which they are to be guided is that all articles advertising anything out of which anyone makes money shall be charged for.

The place for holding the annual summer meeting has not been decided upon, but it is thought the selection will be a point near Mammoth Cave.

The Louisville Evening Times, the best afternoon paper in the South and one of the ablest in the United States, will issue a mammoth 25th anniversary number on Dec. 31st. It will contain historical and statistical matter of interest to every citizen of Kentucky. R. W. Brown, the managing editor of the Times, is known throughout the country as one of the most capable newspaper men in the strenuous field of afternoon journalism.

A Kindly Suggestion for Ashland.

Ashland is a beautiful and prosperous city, but she is badly in need of increased and improved hotel accommodations. A few weeks ago the writer had occasion to spend a night there. The room assigned him at the alleged best hotel in town had a ragged and dirty looking old rug on the floor, an uncomfortable bed, and other furnishings in keeping therewith. It is believed the entire contents of the room would not bring five dollars if placed on sale. The only luxurious thing about the whole experience was the rate charged. The bill was $1.25 for lodging and breakfast. We are moved to suggest the need of renovating and refurnishing, or reducing rates.

A Good Season.

Louisa merchants, particularly those who advertise in the Big Sandy News, say that, everything considered, they have no room for complaint regarding the business done during the holidays. The display made by our merchants generally was very fine, not surpassed by that made by much larger towns. For variety and excellence of stock and fair dealing Louisa merchants take high rank.

The Louisville Times will commemorate its twenty-fifth anniversary by issuing on December 31 the biggest and greatest and most complete newspaper ever printed in the South or West. Coaster Broke His Leg.

Clyde Schmauch, of Ashland, a lad about 14 years of age, while coasting down the hill at Oak View Monday, ran into a gully and in the fall his sled turned over him and his leg was broken. The little fellow suffered much pain and was taken to his home where the injured member received attention.

The injured boy is a nephew of Mrs. W. M. Justice, of this city.

A Letter From the West.

Amarillo, Texas, Dec. 24.

Big Sandy News:—

After replying to a number of inquiries from Kentucky in regard to the Southwest, I feel that a letter published in this paper would be of interest to the public. After having one year's experience in the Southwest I feel that I may be able to give a fair description of the great plains country.

As an investment, I feel safe in saying that a man can make money by investing and holding on twelve to eighteen months. Investments in town property, such as houses and lots, are splendid propositions, as I know of investments paying from 18 to 28 per cent. I want to say to my Kentucky friends that I think this winter and spring is the time of your life in Amarillo, as paving will begin in the coming spring or summer and property will advance 25 per cent. In the next eighteen months. Everything points to future advancement, as we are having the rains and snows that are necessary to make crops in this or any other country. The snows and rains of the last thirty days will almost insure a wheat crop in 1910.

I also feel like saying to bustling men with small means that there is a chance for you if you come to the Southwest and stay a few years. But you are hereby warned to make up your mind to stay a few years, as moving west I have found to be an expensive one. So, my friends, consider the matter before you make the break that you can not gather money from the bushes, because the bushes are not here.

When you come to the Panhandle of Texas you will find the altitude 3652 feet, and plenty of wind and mixed at times with dust, and occasionally a very dry year, such as the past one. But nevertheless there is a future for this country, and I believe that the man that comes and stays will win.

Here is to the common laborer who makes his living by the sweat of his brow, and has to pay $20 a month rent for a house, pay 40 per cent. more money for groceries and clothes than you are paying in the old State. Unless you can afford to spend your money and time to see the bold and treeless plains in the Panhandle of the great Lone Star State, you had better stay east of that great river called the Mississippi. You may get more for the labor you perform but you will notice the above cost of living.

This is from a fair bearded Kentuckian, I am proud to say, and you may take it for what it is worth. The writer has seen a portion of twelve states, including new and old and thinks he has had enough experience to advise a man that has not been there.

A little about the climate. They say this is an ideal climate. Don't know what they mean by ideal, but I do know that it gets very cold some times, and very dry at times. It heats the winters in old Kentucky. Trusting this will be of interest to the readers of the NEWS, I remain, Yours Respectfully,

W. C. REEVES.

Finally, Brethren.

It is generally understood that Hon. John P. Wells, who instituted contest proceedings against Judge W. E. Litteral over the office of County Attorney, will take no further steps, having conceded that Litteral won in the general election. Last week Judge H. B. Rice, as special commissioner, recounted the ballots the result of the recount showing Litteral's majority 30. There are 29 questioned ballots but it is conceded that 18 of them should be counted for Litteral.

The County Attorneyship has been the bone of contention for the past two years. Two primaries, one general election and three contests were necessary to settle the question finally.—Paintsville Herald.

The discharges not excessive or infrequent;

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you.

They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick.

G. E. Pigg, of Louisa, Ky., says: "I cannot find words strong enough to express my thanks for the benefit Doan's Kidney Pills have brought me. For a number of years I suffered from kidney complaint and was unable to get relief. The kidney secretions were profuse and highly colored and the passages were attended by a scalding pain. My back ached intensely and at times my suffering became so severe that I did not think I could endure it any longer. Doan's Kidney Pills went directly to the root of the trouble and removed every annoyance. I gladly give this remedy the praise it deserves." (Statement given Jan. 27, 1908.)

Mr. Pigg was interviewed on June 21, 1909, and said: "During the time that has passed since I first used Doan's Kidney Pills, I have enjoyed good health and freedom from kidney complaint. I am always willing to recommend this excellent kidney remedy."

Weak Throat—Weak Lungs

Cold after cold; cough after cough! Troubled with this taking-cold habit? Better break it up. We have great confidence in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this work. No medicine like it for weak throats and weak lungs. Ask your doctor for his opinion. He knows all about it. His approval is valuable. Follow his advice at all times. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Always keep a good laxative in the house. Take a dose when your cold first comes on. What is the best laxative for this? Ayer's Pills. Ask your doctor his opinion. Let him decide.

TO BIG SANDY COUNTIES.

Have Meetings, Select Delegates and Raise Money for the Trip.

Interest in the improvement of the Big Sandy river must be kept up by the people of the valley if they ever hope to see this very great project carried to completion.
Other rivers and various harbors are pulling for appropriations every year and we will get nothing without a strong effort.

We have as yet heard of no meetings being called in any of the counties of this valley to send delegates to the meeting at Washington City on January 10th. There is but little time left in which to do this.

Not only should meetings be held and delegates appointed, but the money necessary to pay the expenses of delegates should be raised. If any of the delegates desire to pay their own expenses, it will be all right, of course, but the people who stay at home should not expect those who go to lose both the time and money necessary to make the trip.

Our Congressmen are ready to do all in their power to secure appropriations, but they are entitled to the best encouragement and strongest backing that our people can give.

The lower valley is not as much interested in this matter as the upper valley, but it stands ready to give all the assistance possible.

Chickens and Eggs at Harold.

A few days ago the produce truck was accidentally left too near the edge of the platform, at Harold,
Floyd county, when unfortunately
No. 39 came rushing in and creat-ting chicken coops, egg cases, etc., however, the wreck being cleared away, found many crippled chickens and quite a number of eggs destroyed, and it is rumored that O. L.

Kerns, agent, was mistaken for Santa Claus as he went home almost invisible by his abundant load of damaged products—Prestonsburg

A New Variety of Corn.

Last year a small lot of shelled corn of a kind new to this country was sent to the Department of Agriculture from Shanghai. It proved to have qualities that may make it valuable in breeding a corn adapted to the hot and dry conditions of the Southwest. The plants raised in the test averaged less than six feet in height, with an average of twelve green leaves at the time of tasseling. The ears averaged 5 1/2 inches in length and 4 1/2 inches in greatest circumference, with sixteen to eighteen rows of small grains. On the upper part of the plant the leaves are all on one side of the stalk, instead of being arranged in two rows on opposite sides. Besides this, the upper leaves stand erect instead of drooping, and the tips of the leaves are therefore above the top of the tassel. The silks of the ear are produced at the point where the leaf blade is joined to the leaf sheath, and they appear before there is any sign of an ear except a slight swelling.

NEWS OF THE FARM.

A Dairy Boom.

And still the word comes from all over the country, not only that the dairy business is increasing, but that the prices of dairy products are constantly advancing. There never was a better time to start in the dairy business. There seems to be no end to the demand for dairy goods.

During the summer the demand for cream to make ices is constant. As the winter comes on the demand for butter grows. Milk is wanted during both summer and winter.

Hence there is no dull time for the dairyman. The cash rolls in with a constant stream, and his farm is all the time growing more fertile and producing larger crops. The price of feed has gone up, but the increased price of the dairy products more than covers it. If you have a good dairy and run it right, you may expect big profits this winter.

A Milking Heifer.

At Waterbury, Conn., a cow gave milk without having had a calf. She was suckled when a heifer by some calves in the herd, and this brought her to a copious flow of milk. In not quite two and a half months she gave 1,350 pounds of milk besides what the calves got. This occurred in the year 1895.

Prompt Work.

Be your business dairymaking or what not, it is always necessary to be prompt in your work. Millions of dollars are lost every year by American farmers because they do not do work when work ought to be done. Rain comes and the ground is too wet to plow or the newly-cut hay rots in the swath. Cream is neglected and the butter is spoiled. You are too long in going to market, and customers complain that your milk is sour or your butter is old. It certainly pays always to be prompt and do your work in time. Besides, you will find life more satisfactory and yourself be happier by acting on this principle.

This Point.

If you are selling milk you want your cows to give a large quantity. Under proper conditions Holsteins will do this.

But you may have some choice customers to complain that your milk is not rich enough. They want a greater per cent. of butter fat, or cream, in their milk.

What will you do? Buy two or three pure-bred Jerseys, which are good milkers. What for? To make your milk richer. You will not be indicted for adulteration if you pour 5 per cent. Jersey milk into the 3 1/2 per cent. Holstein can.

If you sell in bottles you may adjust richness to suit the individual taste of customers. You will have only done your duty in satisfying patrons and increasing business.

Advantages in Dairymaking.

Did you ever think of the many advantages in dairymaking? It is hard to find a more satisfactory business on the farm. First, it furnishes you ready money every week, or even every day. Then it constantly makes the farm more productive and thus tends to its own increase. It furnishes employment for everybody on the place—employment which pays. Few, if any other, branches of farm business pay so well. It carries away from the land less of its productiveness than any other farm business you can name. It leads to the proper care of animals, for only by proper care can profits be realized. Finally, if properly pursued, it makes the dairyman wealthy, or at least a man of independent circumstances.

Winter Study.

What a mistaken idea people had of farming in the old days! They thought when a man didn't know enough to do anything else he could farm.

Now we know that the true farmer needs to be one of the wisest and best educated of men. The preacher and the lawyer must have books to study and so must the farmer. These long winter evenings should be devoted to study and improving our plan of operations.

Of all farmers the dairy farmer most needs the help of books and papers. He needs to be a scientist of the highest order. He must study bacteriology to know why his milk sours or has undesirable flavors. He must know about animal diseases to keep his herd in good health and to cure the sick. He must be a business man in order to dispose of his products to best advantage and get most profit out of them. In short, the farm dairyman must be an all-round man of decided ability and a specialist besides. And to acquire this ability he should devote all his spare time to getting more and better information about his work.

A Dairy Experience.

Nothing is more helpful than the experience of others combined with our own. Here is what a dairy farmer in the Northwest did, the substance of which we glean from an exchange:

This man started a dairy in 1887 with native cows. They did not pay and he tried cross-breeding with a shorthorn Durham bull, which was a total failure.

Next this man tried a Jersey bull, still with the idea of mixing up his breeds. Another failure followed. Then he turned to Holstein-Friesian grades and they did so well that he established a herd of pure-breds. He bought a bull and several cows.

In eight years his business was so large that he took in his sons as partners. They had sixty cows headed by a fine bull. They bought and sold, dealing only in the best.

They raised their calves by hand and had their helpers to freshen at two and a half years old. They kept their cattle healthy and applied the tuberculin test once every year.

Their cows average fifty-three pounds of milk per day with two milkings. They feed silage, timothy, oats, bran, gluten and oil meal proportioned to make a balanced ration.

Notice that this man failed with mixed breeds and had great success when he took up pure-bred cows.

Dairy Dots.

When you know the bull counts so much in the improvement of your herd why is it you do not secure the best? Who will send us the answer?

It has been demonstrated that heifers from a registered bull are worth one-third more than those from a scrub and twice as much can be had from a graded-up stock.

Net returns are what we want—the most money for time and expenses expended. Study for greatest economy in production. This is the key to success.

Every butter maker ought to know that spoiled cream cannot make good butter. Let your cream sour before churning, but don't let it get old and funky.

You know good air is necessary for the health of your cows as well as for all animal life. Then why do you keep the air of their stalls foul?

If it doesn't pay to feed a cow well, it doesn't pay to feed her at all. This, of course, does not mean that it pays to overfeed.

When it pays to know how to do things, especially in the dairy business, why is it that so many people will not try to know when it is so easy to study the work of successful people?

The Curtain Falls.

Over the sorrow and over the bliss,
Over the teardrop, over the kiss,
Over the crimes that blotted and blurred,
Over the wound of the angry word,
Over the deeds in weakness done,
Over the battles lost and won,
Now at the end of the flying year,
Year that tomorrow will not be here
Over our freedom, over thralls,
In the dark and the midnight the curtain falls.
Over our gain and over our loss,
Over our crown and over our cross,
Over the fret of our discontent,
Over the ills that we never meant,
Over the scars of our self-denial,
Over the strength that conquered
trial,
Now in the end of the flying year,
Year that tomorrow will not be here
Quietly final, the prompter calls;
Over it swiftly the curtain falls.
Over the crowds and the solitudes,
Over our shifting, hurrying moods,
Over the hearths where bright flames leap,
Over the cribs where the babies
sleep,
Over the clamor, over the strife,
Over the pageantry of life,
Now in the end of the flying year,
Year that tomorrow will not be here,
Swiftly and surely, from starry walls,
Silently downwards the curtain falls.

A Happy New Year.

Delight and pathos are inextricably mingled with the thought of New Year's day. It is only a conventional point of time; and other would do as well. Every day closes an old year and begins a new one, but for all that we cannot help feeling that this day, which is agreed upon throughout Christendom for the beginning of a new year, is somehow unique. The pathos comes from the review of the past, and from the sense that another notch has been cut for us on the stick of time. The delight arises from the anticipation of the new, and better experiences of the year to come. What interest any rational person could have in having his fortune told is a mystery. The rest and charm of life consist largely in the fact that each day is like a new page in the story. If you wish to enjoy your book you do not, when it is half-read, turn to the closing chapter to discover how it turns out. You do not thank anyone for telling you the plot. It is so with life. There is infinite satisfaction in each day's contribution to the record. You do not want to anticipate it. It would be a curse if anyone could tell you just what the year would bring. It is just as reasonable to suppose that the year will be happy as sad. Who can tell? Who can control that? Are we not in the hands of God? That is the reason for a happy New Year's day.

A Glance Backward.

As you turn the corner into the new year, look back a minute over the road you have been travelling the past year. It seemed a long way when you started out, but it has been traversed at last. See the line of that road ever winding on, while twining here and there. Do you remember that boggy place into which you strayed? How you promised yourself in your better moments, "I will turn over a new leaf." Have you been true to yourself? If not, once more before you step out into the pure New Year, renew your promises to your better natures. Don't stray, but linger near the pleasant outlooks, keep near the bits of high ground where you breathe purer air and can see afar off heaven's high hills of blue, make the motive pure work for the object. Be diligent in seeking better ways and in twelve more short months, take another retrospective glance and see how much pleased you will be with yourself, how much more of goodness and genuine worth this world will seem to possess.

What to Forget.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget all the slander you have ever heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault finding, and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life; they will come, but will only grow larger when you remember them and the constant thought of the acts of meanness, or, worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet today, and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and lovable.

How time flies! Here we are again with our cheery greeting! Happy New Year! And we must be good to the New Year, boys and girls of the Home Circle. We must teach it to abominate every sort of cruelty, and to love its fellowmen. We must make it grow in grace, wisdom and good works. We must stand by it if it falls into trouble, and we must keep pace with it when it grows well. No lagging behind these times, dear young people. Be brave, true, progressive, and thus may the New Year to you be faithful and happy all the year.

The best of all gifts at the present time is yourself. Make yourself in some way more pleasant and helpful to others. You may have been neglected of them; be mindful henceforth. You may be quick in temper and have spoken hastily; put on restraint and speak kindly now. Restrain all evil habits and make yourself a joy and a help to others. They will bless you.

Our resolutions for the new year should be definite and specific. Do not say simply that you will be more liberal, but say just how liberal you will be. Do not say that you will be more faithful, but say just what duties, neglected in the past, you will engage to perform in the future. Do not promise that you will give more of your time to the service of the Master, but decide upon the proportion of your time which you will give. A promise may be almost or altogether worthless because of indefiniteness.

Let us deal honestly and reverently with him whom we serve. Vow and pay.

It is pleasant in these times to hear of occurrences that show the better side of human nature. It is not worth while to hate any one. Life is too short to cherish ill-will or hard thoughts. What if that man has cheated you? or that woman played you false? or some friend forsaken you? Let it all pass. What difference will it make to you in a few years, when you go hence to that undiscovered country. All who treat you wrong will be more sorry for it than you in your deepest grief. A few more smiles, a few more tears, some pleasure, much pain, a little longer hurrying and worrying in the world, some hasty greetings and abrupt farewells and life will be over, and injurer and injured will be laid away and forgotten. It is not worth while to hate each other. This is our advice, and like salvation it's free. Try it during 1910.

It is because nearly all of us live on hope, because we are mentally sustained by expectations, that New Year's is always welcome. It is the one day of the twelve-month—Christmas is chiefly for children—that appeals most to men and women. Much of its attractiveness depends, for the multitude, on the nominal newness. We are all familiar and weary with the old. We are ever sighing for the new, which seems as if it would bring a change of mind and condition. New Year's is not a whit newer for its name, as every one who thinks for a moment is aware, but names are potent, more potent often than things.

Robert Smith, claiming to be a preacher, is now in Fayetteville jail for prohibiting a physician from attending his 3-year-old daughter, who was almost burned to a crisp by her clothes catching fire from an open grate in her home, at Oak Hill, Fayette county. A physician had partly dressed the wounds when Smith entered the house and drove him away.

Joe and Walter Adkins, recently indicted for complicity in burning the Lincoln county court house and who are now being held in the jail at Hamlin in default of $5,000 bond have confessed, implicating Henry Huffman as the man who applied the torch. Their story is a sensational one, and is to the effect that the burning was deliberately planned in order to destroy indictments pending against them. The Lincoln authorities seem to place entire confidence in the story told by the Adkins brothers.

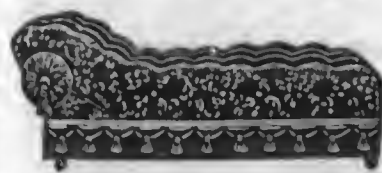

The Fayette newspapers tell of the tragic death of Henry Kincaid, which occurred in the Fayette county jail. Kincaid committed suicide by swallowing carbolic acid. Brooding over the crime which was alleged against him is believed to have been responsible. Kincaid was charged with the murder of his brother-in-law on Pack's branch, and at the last term of court the jury failed to agree upon a verdict. His father and brother had refused to go on his bond on the day of his suicide and had suggested that he plead guilty to the offense and take the lowest punishment which would be meted out.

which ensues from poisonous congestion of the stomach. Corn should be carefully selected for horses especially, and the diet varied by liberal rations of oats and hay. Mules are less liable to injury from unwholesome corn than horseflesh, and so of cattle. But it pays to first cull for sound corn and nub the points of each defective ear. Feed sound corn and blind staggers cannot occur.—Winchester Democrat.

The McComas correspondent of the Wyo. (W. Va.) News writes the following:

I wish to say that one of the most remarkable circumstances happened at our church on yesterday that has ever occurred in the history of my life. Elder H. Fry had preached a good warm doctrinal sermon and called on A. J. Perry, Jr., to conclude. He came with a good warm exhortation and we sang that good old hymn, "Will you miss me when I am gone." Sister Rachael Williamson, the wife of Elder Moses Williamson, fell dead. Sister Williamson had been ill for several days with a pain in her side near her heart and probably heart trouble was the cause of her death. Her death was not expected at that time and it raised a great excitement.

In spite of the efforts of a number of the Nolan people A. R. Hatfield had no trouble in securing license from the county court for his saloon at Nolan. Court met Saturday and a delegation from the Nolan region consisting of John Deskins, Elbert Thompson, Mrs. F. W. Murphy, Mrs. W. F. Tabor and Miss Boone, were there to press the claims of the anti's. They had secured the services of Attorney Quesinberry and were armed with a petition of over 100 names. The committee say that they were unable to get the court to announce at what time it would meet, and that, as a matter of fact, it "took a sneak" on them, met and granted the license and adjourned before the objectors could get a hearing. The Nolan people are very indignant.

On last Saturday a deplorable tragedy was enacted at Julian, W. Va., some ten miles below Madison, W. J. Sheets was in Madison on Saturday morning and was drinking some. He took the evening train for Julian. After arriving there he met Julius Stamper in Turley's store and asked him to go outside with him as he wanted to talk to him. Sheets pulled his coat and when they reached the outside of the building Sheets ran his hand into his pocket. As Sheets and Stamper had had some words over a debt due Stamper some time previous, Stamper thought Sheets intended to cut him, and grabbed his arm. Sheets caught Stamper by the throat and began to choke him, when he drew his knife and cut Sheets twice in the regions of the heart. Stamper was taken to Madison on the night train and lodged in jail. Sunday night at a preliminary hearing before Squire Hager, Stamper waived examination and was sent on to the grand jury. The prisoner was taken to Charleston for safe keeping.

G. W. Blizzard went to Grayson Thursday and gave bond and was sworn in as Police Judge of Olive Hill and will resume the duties of the office January 8.

Obert Garner, aged 15, son of Mason Garner, and Miss Ruth Guggell, aged 16, daughter of Woodson Guggell, were married recently in Owingsville. The proper "shivaree" should have been a spanking.

The way the tobacco wagons have been lining up at the warehouse on Scott street the past week or more makes Olive Hill take on the airs of some of the large tobacco markets of the country.—Olive Hill Times.

Vanceburg, Ky., Dec. 26.—Thomas Becket, aged 65 years, shot and killed Thomas Applegate, aged 24 years, near Toleboro, this county, last night. It is said that Applegate was intoxicated and entered the home of Becket and began cutting him with a knife, when Becket shot twice with a revolver and killed him. A Coroner's jury held Becket blameless. Becket's wounds are painful but not serious. Both men were farmers.

Owingsville, Ky., Dec. 23.—James Montjoy was struck by a westbound train on the C. & O. railway and instantly killed at Olympia. Mr. Montjoy was out on duty and was riding his railway velocipede. He was traveling in the same direction as the train and it is the opinion of the people that he did not hear the train coming up behind him. Persons that saw the accident said the engineer could see the man about half a mile in front of the train, but he never did give any warning. Mr. Montjoy was 27 years old and leaves a wife, to whom he was married about a month ago.

Whitesburg, Ky., Dec. 26.—Christmas day in Letcher was marked by a most deplorable tragedy, and as a result Henry Polly, Jailer of the county, one of the best known citizens, is perhaps fatally wounded. Late yesterday afternoon Willie Sumpter, William Banks and Uria Craft, a son of County Judge John A. Craft, met on Main street and engaged in a fight. Jailer Polly arrived on the scene and remonstrated with them, taking hold of Willie Sumpter. At this juncture Uria Craft fired a shot from a revolver, piercing Polly's left breast. Polly is 65 years old, and was serving his second term as Jailer. Craft was arrested and given an examining trial before Justice H. P. Day. This morning he was bound over until next term of court. His bond was fixed at $2,000.

Another Christmas Story.

(Portsmouth Times.)

The arrival here of Moses Kaiser, of Carter county, Ky., revealed a story of Christmas sorrow in one home, for his young wife, Victoria, had disappeared without leaving the slightest trace of her whereabouts.

Back at the Kaiser home, five miles west of Olive Hill, three children, two boys and a girl were praying for mother's safe return. Kaiser, himself, hoped for the best. "There's not a single spot against her, for if there was, I wouldn't take ten steps after her," he said at police headquarters. He was frank enough to admit that he himself was partly responsible for her flight. He spoke of her as a woman impetuous and of few words. Once she made up her mind to attempt something, he said, she was bound to carry it out, and so when he persisted in remonstrating with his aged and infirm parents, despite her protests, she gathered up a few of her clothes and skipped out. That was last Thursday. Kaiser did not think that she meant to forever separate herself from her family for she was too devoted to the little ones. He thought, perhaps, she would write for him and the children to join her. The woman is 25 years of age and has always been a good and true wife and mother.

Enumeration Begins April 15.

April 15 next is the date appointed for the United States census takers to start out on the herculean job of counting the ninety millions or more people now living under the folds of the stars and stripes. There will be about $0,000 of these census takers.

PIKEVILLE.

College and public school and Sunday Schools are all quarantined at Pikeville on account of the scarlet fever. No case has been fatal and but one or two even severe. Most cases are a light form of scarletina. The Board of Health has a majority and a minority report. The majority favors stringent measures. Some of the doctors claim that the disease is not scarlet fever. Seems to be rather a good sized "wow and wampus brewing" over it. But it is well to give the children the benefit of the doubt. Increased trade of thousands of dollars would not compensate a father or mother for the loss of a darling boy or girl by this red-handed scourge of the nursery.

The Pikeville Herald office is closed tight and has been ever since its editor (?) wended his flight to another climate. What will be done with the plant is not known to the public. XXX

BLAINE.

Christmas is a thing of the past but it will be long remembered. The Christmas trees were loaded with presents for all and the recitations of the Sunday School children were superb, which show that training is all that is needed with children.

Some believe in celebrating Christmas by drunkenness and carousing and it is an axiom "that no good can come out of evil." As a result of bad whiskey a fight took place here Friday evening and more than one has his face plastered up while Levi Miles was shot in the leg above the knee, passing either under or around the knee-pan and coming out several inches below. Dr. Skaggs dressed the wound.

Dr. L. G. Nickell surprised his many friends by bringing home a bride Friday evening. She was Miss Ethel Coldron, a prominent school teacher, daughter of William Coldron, of Relief, Ky. Dr. Nickell is a promising young man having graduated at Louisville last July.

After a lingering illness of several months, Mrs. Wylie Litteral died on Christmas morning and was taken to her old home on Rich Creek Sunday for interment. She was a consistent Christian and her life was spotless. The bereaved have our deepest sympathy. Jacklins.
